

Sean Gamley
CNL

Sean Gamley is a Project Manager for Canadian Nuclear Laboratories and has spent the past ten years supporting and leading environmental remediation management projects in support of the Whiteshell Laboratories Closure Project in Manitoba. Sean's current projects include managing Whiteshell's inventory of used fuel and leading the development of a long-term strategy and safety case for legacy Low-Level Waste (LLW) Trenches in a Waste Management Area that is being decommissioned.

Sean is a certified Environmental Professional and holds an undergraduate degree from the University of Manitoba and a Masters Certificate in Project Management from York University/University of Winnipeg. He is also a current MSc candidate at Royal Roads University.